

Foreword

Nuclear explosion, global warming, financial crisis and health disorders have posed great danger onto human beings, and now the world is facing with the dividing line of recession or revolution. In order to eliminate the worldwide environmental and health problems, a peace foundation is urgently needed to be established where the hatred between the different races and nations can be reduced and communicative dialogue can be enriched.

In the north-eastern of Asia, the dark shadows of the war in the 1900s were still hanging over in this area and the adversity and disbelief between the invading country and the invaded countries were still prevalent, and occurs now and again. However, the peace of this region is strongly associated with the future of human beings. This is the very case.

Although Japan had the history of invasion to the neighboring countries, meanwhile China was the victims of the war, as well as the People's Republic of China hosts a permanent seat in the United Nations Security Council and is one of the countries which hold nuclear weapons, it is the due time for both of the countries to call for the cause of creating harmony, peace and friendship permanently in Korean Peninsula and Japanese Archipelago. To achieve this aim, we should call to Republic of Korea and Democratic People's Republic of Korea, which had been invaded before in history, and call to Russia and United States, which are the members of United Nations Security Council and nuclear weapon holders. If this can be done, it surely will bring about courage and hope for the people who used to live in hostility.

Compiled from the precious ancient Chinese quotations, by the theme of Peace, Environment and Health, this book will be published in four languages, namely, Chinese, Japanese, Korean and English.

With the aid of highly developed science and technology and IT network, this book provides a good opportunity to spread the word of peace to the world, facilitating the transfer from hostility to symbiosis.

We owe thanks to Academy Press and all of those who have showed concerns to the publication of this book. Thank you for your help and support.

Human Nature Science Institute Foundation

President

